Program overview and objectives

The 2019 CAMC Critical Care Conference will feature lectures, case presentations and educational sessions on a variety of acute and critical care issues facing health care professionals today. This one day conference will focus on current trends in the management of acute and critical care patients. The program is designed for physicians, nurses, pharmacists, respiratory therapists, advanced care practitioners and all allied health professionals involved in the care of adults in an acute or critical care setting. No pre requisites are required.

Upon completion of this program participants should be able to:

- Discuss the epidemiology and mechanisms of constipation and ileus in critically ill patients.
- Review the risk factors and outcomes associated with bowel dysfunction in the ICU.
- Understand the mechanisms and adverse effects of drugs commonly used to prevent and treat acute bowel dysfunction.
- Consider practice changes to minimize the severity or duration of ICU constipation and ileus.
- Understand the CMS guidelines/federal regulations governing the use of restraints
- Learn common pitfalls in documentation of pressure ulcers
- Understand basic nursing documentation dōs and dōnts
- Review the epidemiology of stroke
- Discuss the use of tPA in stroke
- Explain the patient selection in thrombectomy
- Explore the evolution of thrombectomy devices and latest strategies
- Review the supportive literature for advanced imaging in stroke
- Discuss the current guidelines in stroke intervention.
- Describe WV patient epidemiology as related to infective endocarditis and list possible causes
- List emergent management strategies for patients presenting with infective endocarditis and concomitant illicit drug use.
- Discuss acute aortic emergencies
- Review Point of Care Ultrasound use in post arrest care
